REPORTS

Pig Progress: Liz Schmid

The following is a Report for Farmland Preservation for the Month of June from Liz Schmid:

Farmland Report
June 2009

Augustine - closing has been set for June 16 !

3.

Crouse - County Counsel is working on the closing package for this farm.

Felix - Contracts have been sent to two appraisers. Hopefully the appraisals will come in soon so they can be sent to the State for a Certified value to present to the family.

State PIG Meeting - Liz reviewed the meeting she attended.

The State does not want to do any type of splitting up of preserved farms. Landowners must figure out what they want before applying for preservation. The only criteria that may be considered is if the division would increase the productivity, diversity or intensity of the farming operation. Also the farm must be very large to begin with (well over 100 acres).

Some of the specifics discussed -

Animals raised on a property and sold as pets are not considered farm production.

Christmas trees and nursery stock are farm production. Timber is not.

Riding arenas used for lessons or personal riding and barns used for boarding or personal equine use are lessons or personal riding and barns used for boarding or personal equine use are considered in tillable area (important if farm is close to 50% tillable threshold).

The State does not contribute toward areas of a farm which have a pre-existing easement, which precludes development or farming as a usage.

CADB - There was no CADB meeting in May.

The Faller farm is on the market.

The Cooley farm is going (or is on) the market. They want 8 million, but are willing to discuss preservation (HLTA is involved) Block 14 Lot 27 - 138 acres adjacent to Palopoli and Felix. We won't have sufficient funds for this and certainly not at the figure they want. The County is developing websites for farmlands etc. Please contact Kelly Thomas at kthomes@co.hunterdon.nj.us

Attendees for Farmland Status Meetings/May

OLD BUSINESS

Preservation Signs

Sandra McNicol explained that Phil Lubitz had taken picture of other preservation signs in Bucks County. She noted that they really liked the way they were formatted. She explained several patterns for the signs and their prices. She also contacted the New Jersey Conservation Foundation to inquire about their signs. She noted that there is a sign from the NJCF on Route 519 coming up from Stockton NJ. These signs are produced by a company in New York, Boss Signs. She explained that these are made of aluminum .063 in size. She noted that for a 18 x 24 inch sign on aluminum in color, non-reflective the cost would be $49.95.

The reflecting sign would be a cost of $50.00, a two sided would be $58.95, and for reflective two sided it would be $67.95. Sandra McNicol explained that the Township would have to supply the art. The Committee members all agreed they are a good price. She then explained the Hunterdon Land Trust signs would be on two 4x4 posts, which cost $12.00 each. She explained they then make a frame work that would go around the sign to hold them together and fit into the post. She explained that Kingwood's goal is to install signs on Township preserved property's. They will state that the sign was preserved by the Township of Kingwood through Open Space Funds or Farmland Funds and the name of the farmer that preserved the land at the time.

Richard Dodds suggested that they come up with a draft sign and then make a decision. Sandra McNicol asked for all the members to keep an eye open for an e-mail from her and then everyone will be able to discuss the options.

Deer Program

Sandra McNicol reviewed a letter and program that John Mathieu had written up for the Environmental Commission. She explained the program to be a certified hunting program within the Township. She noted that there was a vote taken at the Environmental Comm. Mtg. to approve Jack Niciecki to be the coordinator of the program. He will be looking into the program further and keep everyone informed, by bringing solid information back to the Environmental Commission before any decisions are made. Sandra announced a meeting which will be held at the Hunterdon County Library on Wednesday, June 10th. This will be a meeting to provide information on deer and the garden.
